

GETS HER ANNUITY FROM EX-HUSBAND

Princess Troubetzkoy Will Have $3,600 Yearly From Chalonier's Income.

NO OBJECTION MADE

Master of The Merry Mills Willing That She Should Have the Allowance.

New York, April 20.—Princess Amelie Rives Chalonier-Troubetzkoy—“I need $3,600 a year. My present husband, Prince Pierre Troubetzkoy, doesn't make much money. My ex-husband, John Armstrong Chalonier, has ample funds and has agreed to give me the amount.”

John Armstrong Chalonier, once Chanler, author of “Who's Who in New York” (gallantly)—“You shall have it, and welcome. But it unfortunately happens that in New York State, from which I luckily escaped, I am considered a lunatic, and my property is all tied up in the hands of a guardian.”

Thomas T. Sherman, Chalonier's guardian—“If Mr. Chalonier wants to give an income to his ex-wife and she needs the money, I shall offer no objections.”

Supreme Court Justice Blanchard—“Let us see first whether the gentleman can afford it.”

George I. Mackellar, referee appointed by Justice Blanchard—“He can afford it and he did agree to pay her $3,600 a year in lieu of alimony when they were divorced in 1906.”

Justice Blanchard—“Let the lady have the allowance she asks for.”

This, in tabloid form, represents proceedings which ended to-day when Justice Blanchard signed an order authorizing Mr. Sherman to pay $3,600 a year to the literary princess out of the income of Chalonier's estate in this jurisdiction. In return for this allowance she agreed to drop her claim of $20,000 against him for money she said she loaned him out of her savings as an author.

Princess Troubetzkoy said that her ex-husband had paid her $3,000 a year from the time of their divorce until his incarceration as a lunatic in Bloomingdale asylum in 1909.

She had not asked for alimony at the time of the divorce, she said, because his affairs were in a troubled state. She now lives at 53 West Thirty-ninth Street, in an apartment on the top floor of an old house. She said she refused to relinquish her dower rights in Chalonier's property.

Justice Mackellar found that Chalonier's income is about $23,000 a year. He recommended that Chalonier be allowed to make certain repairs and alterations to St. Marguerite's Home at Redhook, Dutchess county, N. Y., a home for orphan children founded by Margaret Astor's great-grandmother, and bequeathed to him by his father, with $50,000 to maintain it.

A letter from Chalonier, who now lives at “The Merry Mills,” Cobham, Va., and raises prize pigs to name after the rivals in love, to her brother, Sheriff Bob Chanler, husband of Lina Cavalieri, written shortly before his ex-wife's marriage to the princely portrait painter, was put in evidence. It read in part:

“That's awfully sweet and plucky of you to say that you hope to do without the $3,000 a year at the end of a year or two, but I want you to understand that amount you can always count on. I want you to count on it. I want you to feel that you will have $250 a month coming to you sure and outside of your work without effort or anxiety on your part. Granted success in my affairs and the amount will be larger.”

The allowance to Princess Troubetzkoy will be paid in equal quarterly amounts, the first on May 1 of this year.

About half this number, together with twenty adult converts, will also receive from the bishop the sacrament of confirmation, the administration of which is to take place immediately after the 10 o'clock mass. NEW RECORDS MADE AT DUAL TRACK MEET

Southern Intercollegiate Time for Mile and Half-Mile Lowered—Pennsylvania Outclasses Virginia, Winning by Score of 78 to 38.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Charlottesville, Va., April 20.—Two Southern intercollegiate records, the mile and half-mile, were broken at the dual track meet here to-day between Penn and Virginia, which the Quakers won easily, by scoring 78 points to 38 for the Southerners.

Billy Pauli, intercollegiate record-holder for the mile covered the distance in 4:23 1-5, a splendid show for so early in the season, while in the half-mile, Bodley, a favorite of the crowd, surprised Mike Murphy with a mark of 1:53 4-5. The Olympic trainer said he would be satisfied with 2:03, considering the track, which was soft from heavy rain.

John Brigham, of Virginia, ran a good race in the mile. He hung on close to Pauli until the beginning of the last quarter, when he jumped in the lead. On the back stretch, Pauli passed Brigham, and by a well-timed sprint, broke the tape twenty yards ahead of the Brooklyn lad.

Woele, intercollegiate point winner of last year in the two-mile, received an ovation when he fairly raced home in this event, a full half loop ahead of Rumbough and Carr. Though Virginia was unable to capture a first place in the track event, Todd, of Virginia, who captured first place in the breast stroke, was beaten to-day by Mercer. MAKES RABID ATTACK ON SENATOR MARTIN

W. J. Bryan, in His Commoner, Declares Elevation of Virginian to Senate Leadership Is Amazing.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Lincoln, Neb., April 20.—In the forthcoming issue of his Commoner, W. J. Bryan makes a rabid attack on Senator Martin, of Virginia, and says his selection to the minority leadership of the Senate is amazing. Mr. Bryan declares Senator Martin's record is just about as bad as it could be, and his selection not only sifies the party, but brings odium upon those who are responsible for his elevation. He charges that Senator Martin is lacking in ability as a speaker, and says he will have to rely upon some one else to present arguments. Speculating, then, upon the cause of Mr. Martin's selection to the leadership, Mr. Bryan says:

“He is a master of manipulation. He is a machine politician; his power is the same that Aldrich possesses, lacking Aldrich's ability. It is to be hoped Virginia, the home of so many illustrious statesmen, will retire him and send some one to Washington who will restore her prestige and give expression to the sentiment of the rank and file of her people. If Virginia fails to do this, the next Senate is likely to retire him from the leadership.”

“It is probably too much to hope that he can during the present session be forced to resign the chairmanship, but he is quite sure to be humiliated by being defeated by a majority of the Democrats. Martinism will become as obnoxious to the Democrats as Aldrichism did to the Republicans. The sooner we get rid of it the better for the party and the country.”
